From Norway Backs—Relief Proved by Lapse of Time.

Backache is a heavy burden; Nervousness, dizziness, headache. Rheumatic pain; urinary ills; All wear one out.

Often effects of kidney weakness. No use to cure the symptoms. Relief is but temporary if the cause remains.

If it's the kidneys, cure the cause. Doan's Kidney Pills are for kidney ills—

Here's proof of their merit from this vicinity.

Mrs. Georgia Thayer, Pleasant street, South Paris, Me., says: "The public statement I made several years ago, regarding Doan's Kidney Pills was entirely correct. I am glad to confirm it. This remedy helped me when I was suffering from kidney trouble. I advise other people who have kidney complaint to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial." "34 35

AT PUBLIC AUCTION. House on Main Street, Norway.

Pursuant to a license from the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Oxford, I shall sell at public auction, on the 26th day of September, A. D. 1912, at two o'clock in the afternoon, on the premises, all the right, title and interest which Wallace Ryerson late of Paris in said Oxford County, deceased, had in the following described property, viz:—

The house situated on Main street in the village of Norway, it being a double tenement house, together with the lot upon which it stands, and bounded by said Main street, land of Clarence Smith, and now or formerly of Benjamin Tucker, land of the Cobblers' Club and land of Peter Greenleaf.

ESTHER M. RYERSON, Administratrix. ALBERT D. PARK, Auctioneer. Dated this nineteenth day of August A. D. 1912.

Boost, Brothers, Boost!

We can not all be presidents And boss the village board, We can not all become the potent South Paris, Me., says: "We cannot all become the potent But one thing we can do, say 'That's boost, my brothers, boost! This town is just as good a town as any other town in the State. There's naught on earth can keep it down If we keep boosting it. Local pride at home, let's let a yell By local pride produced: That's the thing all of us do as well— That's boost, my brothers, boost! When any fellow starts to knock This town in any way, Our duty is to rise up and mock. Our government to lay. Just take the knocking one aside And, ere your hold is loosed, Just whisper gently, 'Darn you! Now boost, you knocker, boost!'

The Nail on the Head. "When you're building a boat or nailing a box," My daddy has frequently said, "Don't put the nail on over the lot, But hit the nail on the head."

Don't look all around to see what is new, Keep your eye on the nail, if you don't want to fail.

And it's right plunk on the head. "If you're starting in life upon a new job, And have a stiff pathway to tread, Don't wonder how you can get that you can't, But give it a whack on the head."

If you are tempted, my son, to do wrong, Don't hesitate, feeling a dread; Just take your old hammer and give him a slammer. Right plunk on the top of his head."

HIRAM. Annie B. Martin of New York is visiting her father, Austin M. Martin.

Mrs. E. E. Hanson of East Hiram is slowly improving, after a long illness.

Roscoe G. Green has been visited by his niece, Miss Julietta Green of Madison.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sadler have been visited by their niece, Hilda Sadler of Limerick.

Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Flint are visited by their granddaughter, Doris Rankin, of Woodford.

Rev. Harvey H. Hoyt has been visited by his father, Edwin L. Hoyt, of Pea body, Kan.

Charles Wheeler was recently visited by his relatives, Hon. Harlan P. Wheeler and Mrs. Wheeler of Portland.

Hon. Charles Rankin has been in Sebago, surveying lumber. At 78 years of age he is still in the front rank of our business men.

On the 15th, Mrs. Mary E. Young was pleasantly entertained at a tea party given by Mrs. Sarah Kimball, it being Mrs. Young's birthday. Miss A. L. Baker of Roxbury, Mass.; Mrs. Hannah Peary of New Bedford; Mrs. H. H. Kimball, Rev. Francis A. Kimball, Hannah E. Bicknell, Mrs. A. W. Sadler and Mrs. Henry M. Burbank were present.

Catarrah Cannot Be Cured with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrah is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrah Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood, and cures the disease. It is prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrah. Send for testimonials free.

Believing Our Friends. Your friend says to you:—"You drop heavy things on me, it really is no convenience, and we would be delighted to see you." You politely murmur "Thank you," and may even remark about the charm of such hospitality. But do you drop into dinner unexpectedly? Not you. You do not for an instant believe that an unexpected visitor would make no difference; you are in your heart sceptical of the very hospitality you call so charming. In fact, you do not do your friend the honor of his or her word at all, but hang her at her word, because she may have been quite sincere. If she was not sincere then, if you have a sense of humor, you are perfectly justified in doing what is vulgarly termed "calling her bluff." In the future she will be so free with invitations which she did not mean if all her similar invitations had been promptly accepted and followed up.

How it would simplify society if we said what we really believed that the people did the same! The girl who caudly replied when being urged by an acquaintance who bored her to set a date when she could come for tea, "I will never have time to come for tea," was doubtless, rude. But she spared herself many hours of annoyance, and probably did not hurt the feelings of her tentative hostess any more than as if she had said the same thing six months later and in more veiled language.

There is nothing which gives a genuine friend more pleasure than doing some service for the one she loves. If you offer to come to a friend's who is, in trouble you are pleased beyond expression if she actually accepts your offer and your services. You feel that she believed you, and that is the smaller matter. "Let me make the buttonholes on that waist," offers a friend. If she really would like to do the task for you you are responding in the most flattering way in the world by letting her do it; if she was only taking your taking her at her word will be an excellent lesson.

Why not believe that our friends mean what they say? At least until we have found out that they don't. How simple it would all be—and how cautious we would learn to become in our offers and protestations.

Children's Column.

South Paris, Me., Aug. 15, 1912. DEAR EDITOR:—As I have been reading the Children's Column, I thought I would write and tell you about my trip I took during my vacation. I went from home July 31 to North Waterford to my sister's, Mrs. F. H. McAllister's. I had a very nice time there and from there I went to my aunt's up to Albany. I made a short visit there because I was homesick. I returned to North Waterford and from there to my other sister's, Mrs. V. J. Royce's in Lovell. In the evening we went up to Uncle George's. He played the graphophone. We spent a very pleasant evening. I returned home the 14th of August.

The week I came home we had company, Mrs. Arastus Files from Webb's Mill, Mrs. Orla Files and two sons from Newburyport, Massachusetts.

We moved on a farm last September. It is a pleasant place. We have got two cows, a heifer calf, three horses, four pigs and forty-nine chickens and twelve hens. We have picked 100 quarts of blueberries this year, canned 35 quarts, pickled two gallons and sold 22 quarts.

The school teacher is going to board here next year. Her name is Miss Willis from West Paris. I guess I have told enough for once. Yours truly, MISS FANNIE McKEE, age 13 years, R. F. D. No. 3, Box 25.

FREYBURG. The postoffice is being painted.

Z. O. Wentworth is taking a much needed vacation.

Emma Spottswood of Orange, N. J., is a guest at the Watson home.

J. O. Deering and daughter Delia have returned from a visit to South Windham.

Alfred T. Carter of Woburn is a guest of T. L. Eastman.

Mrs. Charles Sawyer and family of Westbrook have been guests of Mrs. F. A. Hill.

Mrs. C. F. Smith has returned from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Homer Marks of Berlin.

Mrs. W. B. Bradley and daughter Cary have returned home from a visit to Connecticut.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Phillips have gone to Concord and Alexandria for a three weeks' visit.

Dr. Lewis M. Walker of Boston, a graduate of F. A. class of '87, was in town over Sunday.

E. E. Hastings extended the hospitality of Camp Kezar to the Cumberland Club in honor of the eighty-second birthday of Dr. S. C. Gordon. About twenty-five members of the club motored from Portland to celebrate the event.

Lieut. S. P. Spalding, a graduate of West Point 1912, who is spending the summer at South Conway, was a recent guest of Arthur Dorr Newman, M. Spalding leaves the first of September for Fort Monroe, where he will attend the U. S. C. A. C. school for officers.

The schools in town begin September 17, except Fryeburg Center and Toll Bridge. The teachers are as follows: Village Grammar, Abbie Smith; Village Intermediate, Olive Benton; Village Primary, Abbie Ballard; Center Fryeburg, Sadie Flint; Toll Bridge, Fannie Hill; Smart's Hill, Gertrude Sanborn; East Fryeburg, M. E. Bassett; Haley Neighborhood, Earl Chamberlain; North Fryeburg, Mrs. Pearl Bemis; Harbor, Abbie Walker; West Fryeburg, not yet chosen.

Notes on Etiquette. Any and all gifts should be acknowledged by a note of thanks.

The calling card should be sent with a wedding gift.

Soup or any liquid should be eaten or drunk from the side of the spoon.

The hostess shakes hands both on greeting and taking leave of a guest.

A note of sympathy should be sent a friend who has suffered a bereavement.

When meeting or leaving a lady on the street a gentleman always raises his hat.

In the elevator of a hotel or apartment house a gentleman removes his hat.

When calling upon a visiting friend your card must be also left for her hostess.

When entering a door or any place an older woman always precedes the younger one.

A gentleman must always wait for the lady to recognize him before he has the privilege of bowing.

A bride gives a gift to each of her attendants, the gifts should all be alike or at least of equal value.

Courtesy and consideration for others is the very beginning and foundation stone of good manners.

A widow retains her deceased husband's name on her calling cards as "Mrs. James Brown Young."

Plain white note paper of heavy quality that folds once shows the best taste for all forms of postal correspondence.

The lady's permission must always be asked and granted before a gentleman may expect to begin a correspondence.

When a man meets a friend accompanied by a lady even though she is not known to him, he always raises his hat.

Always answer a card invitation to a dinner as soon as possible after it is received, never later than the day after it is received.

At a wedding seats are reserved for the parents and relatives, this is usually done by stretching a white ribbon across the church aisle.

A Painter is apt to think that his interest lies with lead-and-oil paint.

No; it lies with a better paint than that; it lies with a paint that costs no more and outlasts lead-and-oil two to one.

"Lead-and-oil is good for 3 years" is a common saying. No, good lead-and-oil is good for 3 years.

A good job of Devoe's is as good for 6 years.

What! Does a painter's interest lie with a paint that cuts his business to half?

Yes; for it doubles it too. If one painter's paint lasts twice as long as another's, who gets the business in that town?

DEVORE. F. P. Stone, Norway; W. S. Jackson & Son, West Paris, sell it.

A Check Book Makes all Your Money Available at any Moment and You Can Always make the Exact Change When Paying a Bill By Check

When you carry around the currency in your pocket and laboriously count out the money every time you wish to pay a bill, there is the danger that two bills may stick together or perhaps the party you pay may lose a bill and so think you did not pay him enough. Then, too, unless you ask for a receipt each time there is always the likelihood of having to pay the same bill twice. Another inconvenience when paying money is the difficulty of making the exact change, or if you wish to send money away there is the expense of purchasing a Draft or Money Order.

By depositing your money in this Strong National Bank you make it absolutely safe from loss by robbers, fire or accident and yet it is available at any moment. Whenever you desire to use all or any part of it draw a check for the exact amount wanted and either give it or mail it to the party owed. The Bank at the end of the month returns these cancelled checks to you and each check bears the endorsement of the party you paid. By looking over your cancelled checks you can find out instantly when, what for and to whom you paid your money and each check is a receipt in itself for the bill paid.

We invite you to test the truth of these statements by opening an account at this Bank.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Beware of The Merry Water Boatman's Sting

The Boys Went Swimming in the Pool.

YES; Evelyn agreed with Jack that it would be fine to live in the water in hot weather. Jack had been in swimming that day, and he hoped to go in the next day. "Watch out that nothing hurts you or that you don't take a cramp in the water," daddy warned. "Oh, the swimming hole isn't deep enough to drown any one!" Jack replied lightly. "There aren't any fishes in it; only a few water bugs." "Ah, indeed!" laughed daddy. "Once there was a beautiful swimming pool in a shady pasture. "In the swimming pool that was as clear as glass, except when the boys came paddling into it and stirring up the sand with their lively little oars. There were Mr. Water Boatman, that went spinning around on the top of the pool; Mr. Water Boatman, that went darting through on his funny boat shaped back and pushing himself along by the feathered oars growing out of the sides of his body; and Mrs. Water Spider, who lived in a fairy house under the water. Baby mosquitoes and baby dragon flies squirmed through the water, and altogether it was a very busy place, "was that quiet pool, although the little boys thought nobody lived there. "Whenever the boys came to swim the water bugs had to go scurrying out of the way. It wasn't pleasant at all for them, and as it was their home they were very angry with the boys for disturbing them. "They talked a good deal about it, and at last Mr. Water Boatman said the next time the boys came in there he would show them. "Oh, rubbish! What could you do to big creatures like the boys?" one of the water beetles cried, with a sneer. "Just wait and see," Mr. Water Boatman answered. "Just then one of the boys jumped plop into the pool, and Mr. Water Boatman, lifting his feathered oars, made straight for him. He swam under the water, as water boatmen do, so the boy never noticed him. When Mr. Water Boatman got near the boy's foot he thrust his horny beak into the flesh. "The boy gave a yell and jumped out of the water. "Say, fellows," he shrieked to the boys who were undressing to get into the pool, "don't go in there! The water's full of wasps! One of them just stung me!" "The boys took his advice and didn't swim there, and if you think a wasp has stung you any time you go in swimming just look around and see if you can't see Mr. Water Boatman paddling away through the water."

A Duplicate Disposition

By CARL SARGENT CHASE

"I am engaged," said my friend Bob Turner, "to a girl who seems to have two dispositions. At one time she gives every evidence of character, by seriousness, weighing her words before speaking and deciding after mature deliberation. At another time she is ingenious, childlike, happy-go-lucky and with it all extremely amiable." "Which of her dispositions do you prefer?" I asked. "I don't know. I confess that a woman who thinks and plans is preferable to one who does not. Nevertheless, an amiable woman is the delight of a household. I wish you would make her acquaintance and tell me which side of her makeup you prefer—just for curiosity, you know." I was introduced by Bob to Alpha Whitcomb—why her parents named her for the first letter of the Greek alphabet I was at a loss to know—and made a number of calls upon her. As Bob's most intimate friend, I was received with a welcome; but, of course, I didn't tell her that I had been introduced to study her duplicate disposition. What Bob had said of her appeared to be true, though during a call I found that either one of her dispositions was in the ascendant. She was never both during the same visit. It seemed to me that when she was the serious Miss Whitcomb she looked slightly different from when she was the amiable Miss Whitcomb, but I have known persons to appear like different persons under different emotions. The Whitcomb drawing room, where I was received was always dimly lighted by these globe lamps intended to give a subdued artistic hue to everything, and I confess that I found it difficult to even get a satisfactory look at the young lady.

I had not visited Miss Whitcomb many times before I discovered that I preferred her infinitely in her amiable character. I will admit that this may have been due to the fact that when she was in this mood she seemed to assimilate best with my own makeup. At any rate I was always delighted to find her in lighter vein and correspondingly disappointed when she was seriously. However, whether it was that she saw that the former disposition suited me best she finally received me as the jolly, frank girl who accorded so well with my own idiosyncrasies.

It was after I had seen her several times in this mood, passing each time an evening with her, that I began to feel that I might be placed in a compromising position toward my friend Bob, her fiancé. It occurred to me that I was falling in love with the girl. My visits must be stopped at once. I had remained away a week when I received a note from her stating that she wished to see me about a matter which was so trivial that I was sure it was a mere excuse to have me call again. I confess I did not have the strength of will to refuse her invitation. I called and met with unmistakable evidences of her favor.

I was frightened. It was evident not only that I had conceived a liking for my friend's fiancée, but that she had conceived a liking for me. What was to be done? I thought the matter over and telephoned Bob that I wished to see him the same evening. When he came I told him that I had studied the double disposition of his fiancée so far as was necessary and was ready to report. I infinitely preferred her when she was the genial, amiable Miss Whitcomb.

"And you have no use for her when she is the steady Miss Whitcomb?" he asked. "I did not say that. I said that I preferred her in her lighter mood." "A tender trying to look a bass." "Do you think you could love her in that mood?" "What a question! I shouldn't think of loving a girl who belonged to my friend." "Nonsense; I don't believe there is any man, however honorable, who would give up the woman he loved for his friend simply because that friend had forestalled him." "Well, what of that when the girl is true to the man she first met?" "She isn't in this case." "I was thunderstruck. Had Miss Whitcomb confessed to her lover that she preferred me to him?" "Bob," I said, "what are you driving at?"

"I introduced you to a girl with two dispositions. I prefer her serious side. You prefer her amiable side. Now, how would it do to divide her between us; I taking the serious girl, you the amiable girl?" "Have you lost your senses?" Bob burst out laughing. "For heaven's sake!" I exclaimed. "What does all this mean?" "I will meet you at her home this evening and explain. Be there by 8 o'clock." And without a word more he ran away.

At 8 o'clock I was at the Whitcombs' and found Bob and his fiancée together. She looked at me in that sober fashion that always rather repelled me.

"Now, old man, I wish you to confess that you have got sweet on"—The door opened and another girl, the image of the first, entered. "Miss Beta Whitcomb," Bob finished. "Alpha's twin sister." Bob says that the delighted, relieved expression on my face will be with him to the end of his days. He and Alpha wishing me to marry her sister, had taken this way of bringing the match about. It succeeded.

A Philosophic Fisherman.
 First Angler—Look! This fish was almost caught before. See the broken hook in its mouth!
 Second Angler—It should have had sense enough to steer clear of hooks after that.
 First Angler—Oh, come! You can't expect a fish to exhibit more sense than a human being.—Boston Globe.

A Summer Trip.
 "Back again, eh?"
 "Back again. Had a pleasant vacation."
 "See any glaciers on your trip?"
 "Met one from Boston. Some hardy spirits in our crowd even tried to flirt with her too."—Kansas City Journal.

The House Divided.
 "They haven't separated, have they?"
 "Oh, no. They get along fine. It's just because you never notice them out together. You see, she can't stand for his poker playing friends, and he calls her auction bridge set a lot of silly gossip."—St. Louis Republic.

The Lion of St. Mark's.
 "And did you stay long in Venice?"
 "Only two days, but I saw everything worth seeing, don't you know?"
 "Really? Then you'd see the Lion of St. Mark's, I suppose?"
 "Rather. Saw the brute fed, in fact."—Punch.

Changed the Plan.
 Father—William, did you stay away from school yesterday to go fishing?
 William—No, father; I stayed away to go swimming, but later changed it to a fishing expedition.—New York Globe.

Heard on a Piazza.
 She—They say mosquitoes avoid yellow, so it's a good plan to wear yellow clothes.
 He—Yes, and another way to save them off is to get bilious.—New York Post.

Ancient Foes.
 "I saw a funny sight at the fishing grounds today."
 "What was it?"
 "A tenor trying to hook a bass."—Baltimore American.

SOUTH ALBANY.

A Sudden Death.

The community was greatly shocked and saddened to learn of the sudden death of an old and respected resident of this place, Mr. Henry Sawin, which occurred Saturday, Aug. 17. Mr. Sawin had been quite ill for several weeks but improved so much that she was up and around the house and had gone from one room to another when she suddenly fell. Help was summoned and she was placed in a chair where she almost immediately expired. Mrs. Sawin was a great lover of her home where she will be missed by her aged husband, who has been an invalid for several months.

She will be missed in society as she was one who very much enjoyed any so-called gathering and her loss will be keenly felt by those who were familiar with her lively ways and quaint sayings.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

Winfield S. Ordwell has purchased an auto, a Buick.

Fannie Hay of Woonsocket, N. Y., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Joslin.

Mrs. Mary Houligan, who has worked at the Best's hotel for many years, is to go to the St. Joseph Home in Portland, the first of September.

Ethel Mooney and Helen Collins, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Levey at their cottage by the Lake, returned to Boston last Saturday.

Henry J. Bangs is soon to move his real estate, corner of Main and Whitman streets, to a Norway Syndicate.

Prof. Richard E. Clement and family have closed their summer cottage on Lake Umbagog and returned to Elizabeth, N. J. They were there six weeks and one day.

John Sampson is making extensive repairs on the ell of his house on Main street. The location of outside doors and windows have been changed, the summer kitchen finished off, and other betterments. Morrill Fuller has charge of the work.

Henry A. Fletcher of Auburn, the local man in charge at the shoe factory, is to move his family here from Auburn. They are to live in the C. B. Cummings & Sons house on Whitman street, recently the home of Stephen B. Cummings and Edwin S. Cummings.

A party, including George R. Howe; Vivian M. Akers; Marjorie Moffatt, Dorchester, Mass.; Winfield A. Kimball, Walpole, Mass.; Mae and Gladys Chadbourne, Boston; Mr. Fisher, Brooklyn; C. F. Berry, Portland; and the Misses Clement, Elizabeth, N. J., took a tramp trip to Streaked Mountain in Buckfield, Saturday afternoon, and camped on the top of the mountain over night in the open air.

Society Circus Parade.

The parade accompanying the Society Circus held away throughout the village streets, Friday noon, under a threatening sky.

The young people set inly did themselves credit in getting the preliminaries ready for the circus. It was a good long parade too, and called out hearty applause all along its line of march.

It was led by "Col. Roddewelt" in the person of Frank Hurd, mounted on a handsome horse, and was followed by Marion Haskell, Marjorie Barker, Bertha Mann, Ruth Cummings and Josephine Stearns on horseback.

The Woman's Suffrage carriage was driven by Maude Fiegowied in a gorgeous yellow dress and a black tall hat, and was accompanied by Geneva Barker in striking attire.

One of F. H. Beck's autos carried a party of young ladies. There were several pony teams, one driven by Marion Millett and Katherine Stone, another by Alice Bartlett and Doris Brooks. William McDaniel's auto, the part of the clumsy clown and did some wonderful stunts. Clayton Heath's auto was decorated with signs and its occupants blew piccoloes, etc., and represented the clowns. There was a burlesque band with Homer Luck, leader, and Frank Currier, Paul Brooks, Sherman McKay and Paul Hosmer, musicians.

Guy Emery rode the big gray mule and his costume and lobster can hat were very appropriate.

The Indian maidens were also present representing the Algonquin Club and occupied the Waterford stage hauled by four horses.

The side show "for men only" called loud applause. Banners were hung to the breeze, borne by boys in white, four of whom were carrying a fancy box with fragments of lace and hosiery hanging from the edge of the cover.

Lumley Castle band had its place in a large hayrack decorated with blue bunting, and gave some excellent music. Philip Stone had charge of the "real" Teddy bear in a cage. The Matherson auto carried a party from Camp Oxford.

The auto was prettily decorated with evergreen, flowers and bunting. Robert Bickford's display was "Maine Gems," and in his carriage rode several pretty girls labeled "Maine Gems." The Geisha girls were out and rode in a decorated auto driven by Howard Chioff.

Dr. Bartlett carried a party of girls who represented "American Girls."

"Prof." Chardler was out in his cap and gown and represented Gov. Wilson. Near the end of the parade came Norway's notorious white elephant "Bill," and received a hearty welcome. Here and there were Indians, afloat, on horseback, in autos and in wagons.

And so on passed the parade through Norway but as it was nearing South Paris the shower, which had been threatening, struck good and hard and resulted in a down pour. The performers would not be beaten and pluckily held to the rigging and finished the parade though drenched to the skin.

The rain lasted most of the afternoon and the circus performance was postponed until Tuesday evening, Aug. 27th.

23d Regiment.

The members of the 23d regiment of Maine, held their annual reunion in the Grange hall at Norway, Thursday, with a large attendance. The early part of the day was given over to greeting the old comrades.

Just before the session opened at 11 o'clock, a photograph was taken of the 63 old soldiers.

On account of the death of the president, Captain Charles Prince of Orono, the first vice-president, E. H. Sawyer of Auburn, occupied the president's chair.

Many of the comrades missed the rattle of Alphonse Warren's drum and the pipe of William Bridgman's flute, which have been heard at their reunions for many years. It is hoped that Mr. Bridgman and Mr. Warren will be with them another year.

At the election of officers, for president, E. H. Sawyer of Auburn, was chosen; vice-president, W. L. Grover of Harrison; secretary and treasurer, A. F. Warren; Buckfield; chaplain, W. F. Brann of Auburn.

After the meeting came the dinner! It was suggested by some that if the boys could fight as well as they ate Thursday, the 23d Maine certainly deserved much of the credit in the 60's for "would put a darkey in a watermelon patch to shame."

The first of the afternoon was enjoyed in auto rides, giving the old soldiers an opportunity to see Norway, and a bit of the surrounding country. About 20 autos were put at their disposal.

When the exercises opened in the afternoon, this fine program was enjoyed. Remarks by Chaplain Brann, Vice-president W. L. Grover, Commodore Fernald of Waterford, reading Oration; singing, Mrs. J. B. Jackson; reading, Miss Sawyer; solo, Doris Brooks; remarks by Comrade Hugh McKee of Andover and Comrade Hill of Brownfield.

Among those present were:— J. A. Record, G. W. Cole, L. L. Jackson, Chandler Swift, G. A. Whitman, South Paris. J. F. Turner, Col. Ashe, D. R. Durbin, G. W. Hoxsey, C. R. Curtis, William B. Fuller, Auburn.

Chas. Noyes, F. Walker, Colla Danforth, Mr. Kimball, Hattie Fuller, Doris Brooks, Emma Dunham, Abbie Heath, Eleanor Jackson, Ida M. Elizabeth Brooks, W. S. Conant, M. M. Fuller, Mrs. Frank Cox, E. R. Kneeland, F. Robinson, A. F. Jackson, H. C. Oxnard, M. E. Kimball, L. E. Kimball, M. E. McAllister, Cook, E. Young, A. Sheen, James Danforth, Norway.

Albion Moody, East Stoneham. E. G. Robinson, John Wood. Walter McSwenny, Boston. Alfred Libby, W. L. Grover, Harrison. Frank Walker, Waterford. W. G. Alexander, Sabatis. Thomas Jenkins, Watia. Joseph E. Young, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Holt, Lewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Howard, Joseph E. Gammon, J. M. Buck, Alice L. Buck, A. L. Tarr, J. E. Tarr, R. D. Norris.

Norway Lake School Reunion.

The forenoon was devoted to social chat and looking over the grounds and school building. At the noon hour, about 175 partook of the repast which was spread upon tables in the grove. The ladies of the association gave a dinner of the best.

In the afternoon the president, Elden Hall, of Norway, called the people to order and the following program was enjoyed:—

Solo (with encore).....2 Goldie Frost Prayer.....Rev. R. J. Bruce

1st Vice-President—Thaddeus Roberts. 2d Vice-President—John Wood. 3d Vice-President—Maud Wood. Secretary—Frances Parsons. Treasurer—J. L. Partridge.

The exercises closed by all singing America.

Former pupils of the school from away and who were present were E. M. Rowe, Jamaica, N. J.; Mrs. Annie Brown, Rye, N. H.; and Mrs. E. H. Hartman, Oxford; Mrs. Emma Stevens Barnes, Brooksville, Mass.; Mrs. Etta Partridge Dutton, Gardiner; William Gowell, Auburn; Mrs. J. D. Howe and Mrs. Etta Warren of Bolster's Mills.

The date for the next reunion was left in the hands of the officers.

Milton's Oldest Resident.

100 Years Old.

Monday, Aug. 19, occurred the one hundredth birthday of Mrs. Mary Ackley of Milton, Plaquemont. Rarely does such an instance occur, and in seeing Mrs. Ackley one would hardly realize she had reached the century mark. She is real well, is able to get around and wait on herself, and reads some. Her mind is clear and memory good. She has always been a hard working, prudent woman in her home, and a kind neighbor.

Mary (Brown) Ackley was born in Buckfield Aug. 19, 1812. At the age of twenty-seven she married Joseph Ackley. They lived for two years with his folks, then they came to Milton, bought a tract of land, cleared it and built a house. There were only a few neighbors then, some early settlers.

The writer asked her to tell something of her early life and she replied, "When we first came it was a wilderness, my husband put the first tree house. He cleared a piece and built a small house 16x20 consisting of one room. All my children but one were born in that house. There were no places of worship, so they had meetings round in barns. I remember going to a quarterly meeting up in Vinton Abbott's barn. Oh, I was happy then."

Of their five children, only two are now living, Margaret (Ackley) Dunn of New Sharon, and Joseph who lives on the farm. Mrs. Ackley has had rheumatism and for thirty years or more has been obliged to use crutches, but she has always kept house for her son without the aid of hired help, until nine years ago, which is something remarkable. Mrs. Ackley died Aug. 2, 1898.

About two years after his father's death young Joseph built the house where they now live. It is a nice comfortable house. Although not as large as many, it has all the modern conveniences of a good farm home. Mrs. Ackley has been married twice, his last wife being Mrs. Basha Sessions.

Mrs. Ackley's grandmother lived to be one hundred years and three days old and Mrs. Ackley has frequently expressed her wish to live as long. She reached one hundred and fifty-two post cards from friends.

By invitations extended by Mr. and Mrs. Ackley, a large number of friends and neighbors, eighty-nine in all, came to congratulate the woman who had lived one hundred years. During the day she was photographed, and when asked to sit for a picture she replied, "What do you want my picture for?"

She enjoyed the greetings from so many old friends and relatives, some of them coming a long way to be present, and she expressed a wish to have birthday cards come often.

At noon a bounteous dinner was served to the whole crowd, consisting of that most tempting of all dishes, beans baked in the ground, and delicious cakes and pies. It was a dinner that would be hard to excel. Many willing hands assisted the hostess in serving it. It was a day long to be remembered and all went home wishing Mrs. Ackley more birthdays to follow.

MOTHER OF LARGE FAMILY

Tells How She Keeps Her Health—Happiness For Those Who Take Her Advice.

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house.

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has helped her.

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to your wonderful medicine."

—Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R. F. D. 3.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for women's ills known.

WHAT FUNNY IDEAS WE HAVE ABOUT OUR VACATIONS.

Joseph Andrews' Letters.

In Lovell Village and Vicinity.

No. XVII.

Passing on up the road past the old McAllister-stradbury-Hamblin-Chapman farm, now in the hands of strangers, then down the long hill to Alder brook, where 50 years ago the Henry Little shingle mill with its immense overshoot wheel used to stand. Then on past the ancient Daniel Warren, Thomas Whitney, Josiah Cobb-McKeen house now stands.

I well remember my first day's attendance at the Center school although I was only a little past six years of age. We had been established in our new home but a little while, when one morning Uncle Isaac took my sister and I, one by each hand, and marched us on foot to the old schoolhouse a mile away. At Aunt David Stearns' he called to exhibit his two "diamonds in the rough." Arriving at the schoolhouse, the door of which stood open, he entered without rapping, still holding us by the hands, and to the lady teacher said, "Well, well, teacher, here are two children I want you to look after." Then turned and left us to the tender mercies of the teacher.

My next stop was at Edwin Meserve's, the old ancestral home of the Meserve family. Our family and theirs always "neighbored" very much together. Mary Ellen and Sarah Ann and my sister Abbie were old cronies and visited much together. Their father, Cyrus Meserve, was the handy man about our place when there was a beef or hog to be butchered; and Mother Meserve was always on hand if there was sickness or trouble in the family to aid with her skill and sympathy.

We took the old house remodeled and modernized while his wife was living and, as he told me once, was all ready to enjoy life when his wife was stricken with appendicitis and died, leaving him very much alone. He was one of my older schoolmates and a veteran of the Civil War. He has six children all married, I think, but John, who lives at home and looks after his father and the little farm. I found them keeping "back" home together and felt very much at home while visiting them. His sister Lorret, who came home a few years ago intending to be their housekeeper, had to give up the job on account of sickness, and return to her home in California. She is now living at Oakland in that state.

Continuing on my way I pass the Congregational meeting-house, of which I shall write later, on past the house close by the schoolhouse owned in turn by Harry, Fred and Moses Kimball, Eben Hamblen, Joseph Smith and perhaps others.

Passing the narrow playground, which for more than the sixty years that I have known it remains unchanged, I will enter in imagination one of the doors and proceed to call the roll, naming all that I can remember of those who went to school when I was there, and I hope all who hear their names called will answer, Here!

Mary Clark, Victy, Ruth, Anna, Georgianna and Joseph Barker, Frank and Emily Kimball, Joseph, Frank and James Kimball, Edwin, Charles, Lorret, Sally Ann, Mary Ellen, Frank and Meserve, Ann, Aravasta, Webster and Willie Warren, Wilson Warren, John Warren, Cobb, also Taylor Cobb, Nellie Bradbury, Mary and Clara Hamblen, Valley and Flora Barker, George, Amy and Mary Russell, Aratus, Eugene, Frank, Mary, Etta and Ella Barker, Julia and William Barker, William Barker, William Chandler, George Cutler, Will, Sarah, Matilda and Belle Stearns, Eliza, Mary, Julia and Amelia Heald, Edwin and Henry Stearns, Ellen, John and Charles Russell, Eugene Heald, Henry, Edwin, Sewin, Charles, Austin, Georgianna, Eliza, Sarah, Alice and Nellie Heald; Tom Adams, Edwin Charles, Dean, Burt and Annie Russell, Abbie and Joseph Andrews, Annie and Alice Andrews, Abbie and Lizzie Andrews, Albanos, Fannie and Frances Potts, John Hamblen, William, Albert and James Goodwin, Henry Lord, Aristeon Andrews, Lucy Whitting, David Lord, Charles Russell and Alzador Hamblen, Mary Jane and Olive Farrington, and Seth and Eldon Andrews. Also Winfield S. Hamblen, who is living in Pennsylvania and always answers to the name of Scott.

For teachers I can remember, but a few. Sarah Smart, Susan Chandler, Gordon, Samson Butters, James Meserve, Isaac and Samuel Hamblen, Arthur Stearns and Frank and Rolliston Woodbury are all that I recall. From the first two I still have the "reward of merit" cards given me when a little boy but I prize them very highly.

I will now endeavor to go back through the miles of years and get a glimpse of Center Lovell's early school history. From Mitchell's Town History I quote the following:

On April 6th, 1801, the vote cast for governor shows 24 ballots, all for Gov. (Isiah Strong). Three weeks later the sum of $200 was voted for schoolhouse, $500 for roads and $100 for town expenses.

The town was now very well organized except for schools, and in 1808 six districts were formed as shown under the chapter on schools. In Lovell from a population in 1825 of 470 there were 208 pupils attending school. There are now (1908) five districts in Lovell with an attendance of ninety, the village, which is the largest, having nearly forty pupils in attendance.

I well remember my first day's attendance at the Center school although I was only a little past six years of age. We had been established in our new home but a little while, when one morning Uncle Isaac took my sister and I, one by each hand, and marched us on foot to the old schoolhouse a mile away. At Aunt David Stearns' he called to exhibit his two "diamonds in the rough." Arriving at the schoolhouse, the door of which stood open, he entered without rapping, still holding us by the hands, and to the lady teacher said, "Well, well, teacher, here are two children I want you to look after." Then turned and left us to the tender mercies of the teacher.

FLYING MEN FALL
Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles are like other people, with like results in loss of appetite, backache, nervousness, headache, and tired, listless, rundown feeling. But there's no need to feel like that as T. D. Peebles, Henry, Tenn., proved. "Six bottles of Electric Bitters," he writes, "did me to give me new strength and good appetite, than all other stomach remedies I used." So they help everybody. It's folly to suffer when this great remedy will help you from the first dose. Try it. Only 50 cents at The Noyes Drug Store. 31-35

Birthday of Lucy Stone.

Tuesday, Aug. 13 was the birthday of Lucy Stone, one of the brightest and bravest of modern women, in whose memory more than a million of American women and men celebrate the day with eloquent tributes of grateful praise. She was one of the first woman graduates from any American college and consecrated her life and all her transcendent gifts toward the amelioration of the civil rights and domestic conditions of her sex.

Ever notice that the most glaring faults are those of others?

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition, beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root.

Including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Friends Meet Again.

August 22d, 1912, was a perfect day for the ninth annual reunion of the Norway Lake School Association. Over two hundred people gathered in our grove to enjoy the day with us. Many came this year that never met with us before, and we were all glad to see everyone, new and old. After the social forenoon and dinner had been served, we listened to the program arranged by the program committee—Mary Perry, Ursula Perry, Annie Brown, H. S. Perry, Lottie Crane, President Elden Hall presided, and secretary and treasurer's reports were approved as read. (See program on page 6.)

A vote of thanks was extended to all those who had helped us. Voted to ad-journal for one year, time to be decided by officers of the association. Closed by singing one verse of America. The program was long, so that but very few of the old scholars were called upon to speak, and we would like to have heard from them all.

Rev. W. H. Gowell went to school here nearly fifty years ago and never met with us since, so that we were very glad to hear from him. His poem was very good but we have no copy of it. Mrs.
Harriman's poems are always good, and although this was written very hurriedly, we think it deserves a place here.

Memories.

(Original) by MRS. HARRIMAN.
"How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood."

How old we have sung the old sweet refrain,
While our thoughts backward turn, and fondly
they linger,
O'er days that have passed and return not again,
Old faces are passing and young ones appearing.

Remind us of changes that ever must come,
And off in life's hurry and bustle, there meets us

Some friend of the past, that brings to our home
The thoughts we have cherished of school days departed.

Of scenes and of places we never can forget,
The kind look that cheered us, the word that was spoken,
When help was most needed, we remember them yet.

In childhood's bright days the seeds we were sowing
The flowers we have plucked, unconsciously will Impress us more strongly, then great events later.

Like oaks bent by breezes, they influence us
yet.

Our lives the river show earliest influence
Which have pointed our course, ere really we knew
That our way tended seaward to life's storm and ocean.

Where some have crossed safely, and wrecked
there a few.
Our schoolmates and teachers, as well as our parents,
Have guided our life course toward vales that are sweet.

And there others joined us, while onward still moving
Our strength but increases, when the falls we may meet.

Today we have paused for our annual outing.
To greet with fond welcome our friends as of yore
And brighten our pathway, for these little pleasures
May life hold for us a right goodly store.

To the friends who still dwell by this beautiful
Lake side
Our heartiest thanks we must always extend,
The reunion without them would be a sad failure.

On the day for the labor we must always depend,
That three cheers for Norway and its Lakeside Reunion.

Three cheers for our friends who welcome us here!

The day and the school grounds with all its surroundings
So dear to our hearts, now friends let's all be cheer.

Letters and cards were received from quite a number, among them Clarence Mallette, Fannie Buck French, Mrs. Hattie Young Titcomb, L. M. Felch, T. C.
Merrill, and one which we wish to see in print, from Rev. T. K. Noble of Washington, D. C.

To the teachers and pupils of N. L. S.
A.—We are in receipt of your invitation to the ninth annual reunion of our association and we thank you for the courtesy. It would give us joy to be with you on that glad occasion if it were possible. Although my general health is fairly good and I am free from ailments that would give me suffering, I have not the strength to take the trip to Norway. The Bible admonishes us that the days of our years are three score years and ten, and if by reason of strength they be four score years, yet is their strength, labor and sorrow, for it is soon cut off, and we fly away."

And I have round out the circle of four score years, and find each successive year leaves me with lessened strength, so that I am in no condition to leave home.

I want you to know that my eyes are giving me such royal service, that I can spend hours daily with my books, for which I am unusually grateful. I have just come across a little poem by Richard Burton which I send as my contribution to your program, and ask you all to think about it the coming year. With unchanging love for all the boys and girls of the Norway Lake School Association, I remain very sincerely yours,
T. K. Noble.

IF I Had the Time.
If I had the time to find a place,
And sit me down full face to face
With my better self, that cannot show
In my life the things I feel.

It might be then I should see my soul
In my life the things I feel.
I might be served by the thought sublime,
If I had the time.

If I had the time to let my heart
Speak out and take in my life a part,
To look about and to stretch a hand
To a comrade quartered in no man's land;

Alas, God! if I might but just sit still
And hear the note of the Whippoorwill,
I think that my wish with God's would rhyme,
If I had the time.

If I had the time to learn from you
How you can comfort my word could do;
And I told you then of my sudden will
To kiss your feet when I did you ill.

To the tears about of the coldness feigned
Could flow, and the wrong be quite explained,
Brothers, the souls of us all would shine,
If we had the time.

union, of teachers, pupils, old neighbors
